

Four officers from Hampshire Police enters one of the toughest team challenges in the world

Four officers from Hampshire Police will test their stamina and endurance against teams from the famously tough Gurkha regiments by taking part in Trailwalker - one of the most challenging team events in the world.

Trailwalker UK, which takes place on 18 and 19 July 2009, requires teams of four to cover a 100km course across the South Downs in less than 30 hours. Teams are completing the challenge in order to raise money for Oxfam and the Gurkha Welfare Trust.

The Hampshire Police team includes WPC Mandy Jewell, the local Parish Constable, who is seeking sponsorship for the event. If you would like to sponsor her, please either give her a call or use the dedicated website. Please take a tear-off reminder of the web address.

There are two beneficiaries:

1. Oxfam is a development, relief and campaigning organisation dedicated to finding lasting solutions to poverty and suffering around the world.
2. The Gurkha Welfare Trust was set up in 1969 to relieve hardship and distress among Gurkha ex-servicemen of the British Army and their dependents in Nepal – one of the poorest countries in the world. Money raised through Trailwalker helps fund community projects across Nepal.

Thanking you, in advance, for your support.

Thank you also to those who have already sponsored me, having seen the article in the Gazette
